

SKANSKA

Innovate. Inspire. Impact.

A career at Skanska

Francis Breen | Construction Director

We create the spaces and places that drive the world forward.

From buildings and bridges to airports, railways, and even particle accelerators, we've tackled almost every type of project in every kind of setting – often breaking new ground. Whatever the challenge, we bring our shared expertise and creativity to every endeavour.

"I am honoured to lead this incredible company. I'm especially proud of the culture and people within Skanska, and our unwavering commitment to building for a better society.

"Our culture is deeply rooted in collaboration, a value we cherish from our Swedish heritage. This collaborative spirit fuels our drive to be a learning organisation, constantly seeking ways to enhance our performance.

"We strive to create inclusive workplaces where everyone feels valued and empowered to speak up. This is crucial in an industry where too often individuals are underrepresented. I hope you will find Skanska to be a place where your hard work and dedication can make an impact, whilst giving you the opportunity to learn and develop."

Katy Dowding,
President & CEO, Skanska UK

Our purpose and values

Every decision we make impacts, so we put people at the centre of everything we do. We bring together diverse voices to create lasting value for society, always focused on reshaping the future.

Sarah Calder | AI Capability Manager

Care for life

Protecting people and the planet

We prioritise health, safety and the environment. We take action against unsafe conditions and advocate for sustainable solutions, holding ourselves accountable for the legacy we leave future generations.

Act ethically and transparently

Being a role model

We lead with integrity, encouraging openness and accountability. Living by our Code of Conduct, we reject shortcuts and foster a space where everyone can speak freely.

Be better together

Teaming up

Collaboration drives us. We share knowledge, embrace inclusivity, and leverage diversity to deliver innovative solutions for our customers, partners, and communities.

Commit to customers

Having a customer-first mindset

We share our customers' success. By understanding their needs, we create smarter, sustainable solutions that bring their visions to life.

Life at Skanska

We believe it's our values and culture that set us apart.

We understand your drive to do something meaningful with your life. This is why a role with us will support critical national infrastructure, combined with opportunities for professional growth across all business units, and supported by a range of leadership development programmes.

Your wellbeing matters to us, and we're constantly evolving our approach to benefits, flexibility and wellness to support your health and development. We prioritise your physical and mental wellbeing because we know you perform at your best when you feel your best.

Steve Van Der Park

Construction Manager

"Skanska has given me incredible opportunities to grow and explore different roles within the company. Internal movement means I've been able to expand my skills, take on new challenges, and shape a career path that excites me. The support here is unmatched."

Helen Smyth

Bid Director

"Flexible working at Skanska has been a game-changer for me. It allows me to balance my career with my personal life, giving me the flexibility to be there for my family while still delivering my best at work. It's empowering to have that trust and support."

Frederick Kwarteng

Project Administrator

"Working on such important national infrastructure is more than just a job – it's a responsibility. It's about ensuring the systems and structures that people rely on every day are safe, efficient, and built to last. Knowing that my work directly impacts communities and keeps the country moving is incredibly rewarding."
